

Oklahoma State University English Programs & Instructors

Courses for Summer 2017

ENGL 5140 Introduction to Corpus Linguistics Enrollment Max:6, Max Credits:3

CRN 42427 - Link, Stephanie - WEB

Corpus linguistics is the analysis of naturally occurring language on the basis of computerized corpora. In this class, we will explore how corpus techniques can be used to perform linguistic and rhetorical analysis with implications for applied linguistics, TESL, and genre studies. Topics covered will include key techniques in corpus linguistics, corpora and discourse analysis, and corpus compilation. Each week, students will engage with fellow classmates through discussion board posts and video logs. There will also be intensive readings and online video lectures that guide course content.

ENGL 5560 Studies in Professional Writing - Tourism & Taos: Rhetorical Invention and Intervention Enrollment Max:20, Max Credits:3

CRN 42228 - Brooks, Ronald - NEW MEXICO

ENGL 6140 Studies in Poetry Writing Enrollment Max:12, Max Credits:3

CRN 41805 - Lewis, Lisa - MTWR 1330-1610 M207 in STW